In the letter, Kate admitted to having done an awful thing. The night before she went to the party she had drunk a lot and asked her friend Mr.Hall to drive her home. Since Mr.Hall was also a good friend of Bridget's, he agreed and took Kate home, together with her dog who was tied to the back of the car. When Kate was back home, she got out of the car and told Mr.Hall that she was feeling ill and went to lie down in her room. She closed the door behind her. The next morning Kate woke up and found Mr.Hall's text messages on her phone. She realized that it was a serious case of negligence. As he had promised to cover all the expenses, he had already contacted a lawyer. This letter is a sign of her guilt. After finishing the letter, Kate took a taxi to the funeral, so she would not be caught. Mr. Hall, the lawyer, and the police will come to your house to bring you for questioning and the judge will send you to jail. In the letter, you have got 5 minutes to save your friend. You have 5 minutes to save your friend. You have 5 minutes to save your friend. You have 5 minutes to save your friend. Hints: 1.Go to Kate's house. 2.Go to the bed and get the letter. 3.Find the taxi and drive it to your house. 4.If Mr.Hall is with Kate, you will see him, too. 5.Walk into Kate's bedroom. 6.Keep the letter safe. I am new to php and MVC development and have been searching for the answer for a couple days. I have been reading up on Model View Controller and about different methodologies, but it seems a bit overwhelming. So i decided to try my own. What i am wanting to do is redirect to a thank you page once a user submits the form. The problem i am having is that i have tried different methods such as session_start(), header, and header() and then going through different pages of the same php file. The code i currently have is the following. I would like to redirect to a thank you page, but i keep getting a blank page, so obviously the page is not redirecting. Would anyone know how i can go about doing this? I would also appreciate it if someone could tell me if it is a good idea to include session_start(), header, and header() in a php file that is part of a mvc framework like cakePHP. A: Before redirection please confirm the successful form submission

if($_POST['submit']=='Submit'){ $user_info = array( 'email' => $_POST['email'], 'first_name' => $_POST['first_name'], 'last_name
