Q: How do I push a text to a listbox I have a simple project I am working on using .NET 4.0. In my Windows application, I have a ListBox containing a few names. The user has to select a name from the listbox and press a button. I want to have a messagebox pop up that says "You selected so and so!" What's the best way to do this? I have seen several other threads on the subject, but most only have the pop up or the messagebox, but not both. I want to keep it simple and have both.

A: You can use the SelectedIndexChanged event of your listbox and do whatever you want to it:

public void YourButton_Click(object sender, EventArgs e) { ListBox listBox = (ListBox)sender; listBox.SelectedIndex = listBox.SelectedIndex - 1; string selectedItem = listBox.SelectedItem.ToString(); MessageBox.Show(selectedItem); }

listBox.SelectedIndex is actually the index of the currently selected item in the listbox, it is incremented or decremented, depending on which way you click, so you can use it to find the last selected item and send a message to it.

Q: Python Modify Image with PIL I'm trying to modify the red circle on this image: and it has the code:

from PIL import Image im = Image.open("test.jpg") print(im.mode) im.show() im = im.crop((1222, 1222, 180, 180)) print(im.mode) im.show() im = im.crop((1805, 1222, 180, 180)) print(im.mode) im
