This one in particular displays some comments by fetching them from a server. I want to be able to pass parameters to this component, like the id of the entity the user is viewing. My component that handles that is defined like this: The CommentComponent is just an h1 with an animated 'loading' image, as you can see. My route: import Post from 'models/post.model'; import Comments from 'models/comment.model'; export default Route.extend({ model() { return this.store.findAll('post'); }, setupController(controller) { this._super(controller, 'post.index'); controller.set('content', this.store.findAll('post')); }, actions: { // handles the "comment.create" createComment() { const post = this.get('model'); 04aeff104c
